BBC

DOES YOUR CHILD KNOW MORE THAN YOU?

- An Ofcom study in 2011 found that 70% of parents of children aged 12 – 15 felt that their children knew more about the internet and modern technology than they did.
- Do you really know what your child is doing online, who they are engaging with, and what they are talking about?

Social Networking

- Everything is about interaction – people share, exchange, create, etc.
- Young people need to take on the responsibility of being safe online users.
- Need to teach them about safe online behaviour so they can eliminate and reduce the risk to themselves and others.
- Young people don't want the technology taken away so they do tolerate certain behaviours.

Social Media

- Webcam – school uniform and other clues in the background
- Webcam left on or turned on remotely
- Pictures of children or parents or siblings social network - tagging
- Privacy settings left open or incorrect
- Profiles – don't have to provide all your personal information / appropriate images
- A 'friend' passes on private info or pics
- Do you know who you're talking to?

CYBER-BULLYING

- 24/7 - invasion of home/personal space
- Audience can be large & reached rapidly
- May attempt to be anonymous
- Often between children (peer to peer abuse)
 - also across generations; teachers have been targets
- Bystanders can become accessories
- Cyber- bullying incidents can act as evidence – take screen shots/ keep the text

What is CyberMentors?

CyberMentors is all about young people helping and supporting each other online.

If you're being bullied, or are feeling a bit low, or are maybe troubled by something and you're not sure what to do or who to talk to, then CyberMentors is where you can go for help. It doesn't matter how big or small you think the problem is, or whether you're being targeted online or offline, CyberMentors are here to listen and support you.

Information for Parents

Think U Know

This is the website for the Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre.

The link provided here directs you to the Parents and Carers page. This provides information about issues related to the use of the internet by young people for Instant Messaging, Chat Rooms, Online Gaming, Social Networking sites etc.

Safer Internet Centre

The Safer Internet Centre organises an annual 'safer Internet Day', which puts the focus on current issues relating to online safety. They are another source of useful information for both parents and students.

This website gives parents, teachers and school leaders practical advice on protecting children from ~~extremism and radicalisation.~~

E Safety at Richard Taylor School

The internet has changed all of our lives, particularly our children's. It is a wonderful tool but one which can put children at risk if they are not taught how to stay safe on line.

At RTS e-safety is at the heart of our computing curriculum. Your children are taught how to stay safe on line.

The links established on this page will help you to support the work of the school in training your child to stay safe online and recognise the risks.

There are many age appropriate activities which you can do with your children.

CBBC

CBBC have some great games and videos. Test your internet safety knowledge with Hacker, listen to some Stay Safe songs with Helen Skelton.
