At Richard Taylor Our Vision for Every Child is that they:

'Find friendship, have responsibility, make progress and know that they are loved by God'.

The Christian values of Friendship, Trust, Respect, Determination, Sportsmanship, Peace, Forgiveness, Responsibility and Service were chosen by our children as the values that guide the way that every member of our community lives their daily lives.

Every child has unique strengths and challenges as they grow and develop. The SEND Code of Practice 2015 describes children as having a learning difficulty or disability if they....

- 1. Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age; or*
- 2. Have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post 16 institutions.*

This report shows how we seek to meet the needs of these children as valued members of our learning community.

	North Yorkshire LA expectation of good practice	School offer
Universal Provision	High quality support for learning within mainstream lessons is the most important factor in helping pupils with SEND to make good progress alongside their peers. Your school will be able to describe some of the approaches that classroom teachers and other staff will be using throughout the day to help address your child's needs within lessons. They may also be able to share with you the school's overall plan of support (provision map), which outlines many of these strategies. The school must have a named governor who holds the school to account for making good provision for pupils with SEND.	All staff at RTS are committed to providing a high quality inclusive education for every child so that all can make progress, achieving their full potential. The effective monitoring of teaching continues to show all teaching within school is at least good and in many cases outstanding. Lessons are carefully planned to provide challenge and support for every child Staff use a variety of teaching styles and resources in lessons to support children's learning. Whole school provision maps, class provision maps and individual provision maps are all in place to record the range of strategies and interventions used to meet the needs of individual children. Dr J Johnson is the school's named SEN governor; she meets regularly with the school's SENCo, Mrs. Emily Styles, and provides update reports at full governor meetings on provision for SEN within school.
Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Approaches the teaching/ learning and development of children and young people with special educational needs; • Adapts the curriculum/provision and additional learning support available to children and young people with special educational needs; • Supports and improves the emotional and social development of children and young people with special educational need.
Recording Provision,	Where the school feels that something additional or different is needed to support your child because they have SEND they will discuss this carefully with you. This information may well be recorded in a document for you and your child, known as an individual provision map or an individual education plan. This should include:- <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • details of any strategies being used to support your child in class; • details of any extra support or interventions for your child • your child's learning targets; 	Children who have been identified as needing additional support will have their targets recorded. At RTS we use the following tools to record interventions and support: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Inclusion Passports. • Records of Intervention Programmes • Class Provision Maps • Individual Provision Maps • Personalised Pupil Goal Maps Records of intervention and provision are reviewed termly and adapted if required to ensure that they accurately meet the needs of children.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the next date when your child’s progress will be reviewed.
Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Identifies the particular special educational needs of a child or young person;
Interventions	Schools use a range of evidence based interventions to support pupils with SEND to make better progress. Interventions are structured learning programmes. Your school will be able to explain to you: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • what interventions your child is receiving and what are the intended learning outcomes; • when during the week any interventions will be delivered and for how many weeks; • who will be delivering the interventions (usually a well-trained teaching assistant) and where (e.g. in class or outside the classroom) • how the interventions will relate to and support learning in the classroom; • how they will be monitored closely to make sure they are helping your child to make accelerated progress. 	At RTS we are able to offer a wide variety of interventions to support the needs of all children. Interventions are carefully monitored on a termly basis in order to ensure that they have an impact on pupils learning. Staff receive regular training and support provided by a number of different agencies. All interventions are recorded on class provision maps and individual provision maps, both are reviewed on a termly basis. Children with the highest needs are assessed using the BSquared assessment resource which then allows the school to create a highly personalised curriculum with highlighted next steps.
Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Secures the services, provision and equipment required by children and young people with special educational needs;

Extra Adult Support	There may be occasions when the school feels that some additional support within lessons may help your child to make better progress. This is by no means always the case. However, if some additional small group or one to one support within lessons is planned, the school will explain how this will work, what the aims of this support will be and how and when the impact of this support will be reviewed. Most importantly, this support should be aiming to make your child more independent in lessons.	RTS has a large number of highly skilled teaching assistants who support both individuals and groups of children. At certain times children may need a high level of individual support; however our aim is always to help children to become independent learners. Staff receive regular professional development in specific areas of SEND.
Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Secures the additional learning support available to children and young people with special educational needs;
Expected progress	All pupils with SEND should make at least expected progress, in line with their peers. Your school will be able to explain how it will be monitoring your child's progress to ensure that it is at least in line with expectations. This will usually include progress made with personal targets, and overall progress against National Curriculum Age Related Expectations for the end of each age group.	Intervention strategies use smart targets to assess the progress of pupils over the length of the intervention. PIVOTS 'P Scales' are occasionally used to monitor the progress of pupils with SEND. This allows staff to record steps of progression at a more detailed level. The school uses the BSquared tracking system for children working significantly below the national curriculum. The system allows staff to identify the specific next step to be targeted for individual children. The progress of pupils with identified SEND will continue to be monitored against national expectation. RTS currently measures progress against age related expectations. Not all children are able to achieve national expectations. Additional support may be needed to help a child make progress. The progress of all children is monitored on a regular basis as part of an established whole school framework. You will have the opportunity to discuss your child's progress at the parent consultation meetings and at regular review meetings. Staff, including the school's SENCo Mrs. Styles, are always available to discuss the concerns of any parents regarding their child's progress.

Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting:

- Monitors the progress towards any of the outcomes identified for children and young people with special educational needs will be assessed and reviewed, including information about how those children, their parents and young people will take part in any assessment and review;
- Monitors and evaluates the effectiveness of special educational provision, including information about how children, their parents and young people will take part in any assessment and evaluation;

Inclusion Quality Mark

Many North Yorkshire schools have used our Inclusion Quality Mark (IQM) to evaluate how successfully they include all learners, including those with SEND. The IQM allows schools to show how they are benefiting different groups of learners, and how their outcomes are improving as a result of their work. A full list of North Yorkshire schools currently holding the IQM is available.

Schools who do not hold the IQM should demonstrate their commitment to Equality in line with the Equality Act 2010 and in line with their school's aims and vision statement.

The school currently holds the IQM at level 4 (enhancing Inclusion) and is firmly committed to ensuring all children feel valued and supported in school. Ofsted 2017, 'The school lives out its Christian and British values with integrity and fervour. There is a tangible sense of community, care, respect of, and value for, others as soon as you enter the school and as pupils and staff carry out their daily work.'

Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting:

- Supports children and young people with special educational needs in moving between phases of education, and in preparing for adulthood;
- Makes activities available for children and young people with special educational needs in addition to the curriculum;
- Ensures facilities that are available can be accessed by children and young people with special educational needs;

Support from other agencies	The Local Authority offers a range of specialist support and outreach services, including educational psychologists and local enhanced mainstream schools, to help schools to deliver appropriate support and interventions, Other specialists such as speech and language therapists can also support schools in this. If the school feels that the involvement of another agency will help them to meet your child’s needs you will be informed and asked to give your consent.	At times it is useful for the school to request additional support from outside agencies. RTS has established excellent relationships with professionals from the following agencies. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Early Years Advisory Service • Educational Psychologist • School Healthy Child Team • Social Care Team • Sensory, Physical and Medical Teaching Team • Speech and Language Therapist • Physiotherapist • Occupational Therapists • Pediatrician • Physical Medical Children’s Services • Specialist Pediatric Services • Autism Outreach Service • EMS schools for communication and interaction, Specific learning difficulties and Behaviour, Emotional and Social difficulties. • Severe Learning Difficulties team • Young Carers • CAMHS • SENDIAS • Prevention Service Professionals from all of the above agencies regularly support staff and children in school. The school would only contact an outside agency following a discussion with parents.

Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting:

- Secures the additional learning support available to children and young people with special educational needs

On-going communication with parents	Schools communicate regularly with parents, usually once a term, to discuss how well their child is doing. For pupils with SEND it is often desirable that there is more frequent communication as it is vital that parents and school work together closely. Your knowledge and understanding of your child’s needs is essential to support the school in making the best provision for them. This should also take account of your and your child’s hopes, personal goals and interests. This will allow the school to regularly explain to you where your child is in their learning, and to work with you to ensure the most appropriate targets are set to ensure progress. You should be informed about the age related levels which your child is working. If you are not sure what these mean, don’t be afraid to ask. On-going communication with school may include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • regular contact through a home-school book or by e-mail to keep you informed of things that are going well or particular successes • more regular meetings to update you on your child’s progress and whether the support is working • clear information about the impact of any interventions • guidance for you to support your child’s learning at home. 	Regular contact with parents is really important for all children with SEND. All parents have a wide number of opportunities to discuss their child’s progress as outlined in the ‘expected progress’ section of this document. For some children regular communication takes place on a daily basis through the use of a home school book or contact with a member of staff before and or after school. The schools policy for SEND, which can be found on the school website, outlines the framework for identifying pupils with additional needs. Individual provision maps are shared with parents and updated on a termly basis. The SENCo, Mrs. Styles, and members of the SMT are always available to liaise with and provide support for parents.

Code of practice requirements 2015. The SEN information report should describe how the school or setting:

- Consults and works in partnership with parents of children with special educational needs and with young people with special educational needs;

Inclusion Passport	Many schools use inclusion passports. This is a document that summarises the support that has been given to a pupil over a period of time, and the difference that this support has made. You may like to ask your child's school whether an inclusion passport would be useful for you and your child. Your child may well have their own version which they can share with staff and which can help to explain their interests and things that help them learn and to enjoy school.	At RTS inclusion passports and individual provision maps are used for some children in order to summarise the support which has been provided for a child over a period of time. The documentation also highlights individual strengths and achievements and notes strategies which do not work. It will also note the differences which particular support strategies have made to the child's learning and progress.
Parent Partnership	The SENDIAS team can be contacted through North Yorkshire's education offices or on 01609 536923. The Information, Advice and Support Service can offer impartial advice and support which could include making a home visit to listen to any concerns you may have, or attending meetings with you. They may also be able to put you in touch with other organisations or parent support groups.	The SENDIAS Coordinator is available to offer advice, listen to worries of concerns, offer home visits, attend review meetings or support transition to a new school. Their advice is impartial and can be provided in the home setting. At RTS the SENDIAS Coordinator is Carol Watson; she can be contacted on 01609 536923.
Statutory Assessment	For a very few children more help will be needed than is normally available through the school's own resources. Schools, parents and other agencies may decide that it is necessary to request a statutory assessment through the local authority. Your school, or a SENDIAS Co-coordinator can talk to you about this in more detail.	If a child does not make progress despite receiving additional support in school and from external agencies an education health care plan will be requested in consultation with parents and other agencies. This is in order to provide the long term support that a child may need. This framework has replaced the old system of statutory assessments from September 2014. As part of the process of building a case for an education health care plan staff will complete a common assessment of need review (CANDO) A CANDO will only be completed following a completed cycle of assess, plan, do and review at wave three. Each CANDO assessment will be completed in consultation with parents, teachers and outside agencies.

Key contacts	All mainstream schools have a SENCo. They, along with your child's class teacher, will be able to discuss your child's needs with you, the support for learning that the school is providing to meet their needs, and what expectations the school has for your child's progress.	At RTS we operate an open door policy. Parents and carers are encouraged to speak with the class teacher about any concerns which they might have. They will be able to discuss and support which your child is receiving. If you wish to discuss your child's needs please contact the SENCo who will be able to talk about how RTS can support children with SEND Key Contacts: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• SENCo Mrs. E Styles.• Headteacher Mr. A Symonds• SEN Governor Dr J Johnson. You can contact any of the above via the school on 01423 563078.
